EU GDPR IN BRIEF

EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) will be enforced on 25th of May 2018 after two-year transition time.

All the organizations and companies that handle personal data of EU residents are under the regulation. GDPR regulates which data may be saved, how to manage the data and how data's lifecycle should be managed.

COVERAGE OF GDPR

GDPR covers not only the new digital data but also existing data. In some cases GDPR has thought to regulate only information security and in the worst cases for example only management of log files (e.g. SIEM or IAM). In practice GDPR comprise of four entities:

- Regulation / legal view
- Communications/ Applications/Processes
- Information security
- Data management

EU GDPR is not an easy bite to swallow

We in GDPR Tech are fully focused on General Data Protection Regulation and offer solutions to it. Our expertise includes training, assessments, consulting and software solutions. Our offerings are modular so you may choose the solutions that suit you best. Our wide partner network also offers for example legal guidance.
